

We are all part of God's vine and are rooted in His rich soil. We are nurtured and supported so that we may grow and spread out into the world to love and to serve.

I am the vine; you are the branches. If you remain in me and I in you, you will bear much fruit. John 15:5

1 Introduction: the remit of the governing body

Goring Church of England (VA) Primary School is a state-funded school, supported by the Diocese of Oxford. This Scheme of Delegation provides clarity about the roles and responsibilities of the governing body and headteacher. It also sets out how the governing body organises its work.

Governors consider what committee structures are appropriate for our school and create balanced committee teams by considering the wishes, strengths and skills of individuals and matching them to the relevant committee.

The Scheme is published on the school's website, making it accessible to all governors, staff, parents, the local authority, and Ofsted inspectors. The Scheme is reviewed at least annually to take account of any changes in the school, the governing body, and committee structure.

The role of the governing body

Governors have three key roles:

- to provide a strategic view;
- to act as a critical friend;
- to ensure accountability.

Provide a strategic view

The governing body focuses on helping to decide the school's strategy so that our pupils learn most effectively and achieve the best outcomes. It considers the advice from the headteacher before taking decisions. There is an understanding of the distinction between strategy and the implementation of detail so that governors are neither overwhelmed with excessive data, nor feel excluded from decisions. To this end the headteacher circulates a detailed report each term, prior to a full governing body meeting, so that governors can raise questions and discuss in an open forum.

The School Development Plan provides the strategic framework for the school's operation and, as with the headteacher reports, this is scrutinised and challenged by the governors. In addition, there is a rolling programme of policymaking and review which underpins the implementation of the long-term strategy and day-to-day running of the school. Many policies are delegated to specific committees although the headteacher has oversight of each policy, and the governing body must always be in receipt of all the information necessary to ratify those policies. The headteacher is responsible for leading the school towards its set targets and for discharging many responsibilities on the governors' behalf, as well as discharging responsibilities imposed directly on the headteacher.

The headteacher must provide the governing body with enough information for governors to feel confident that those responsibilities have been met. The governors must ensure that they receive enough information to allow them to monitor the school's achievements, including benchmarking, and progress in comparison with other schools, both locally and nationally.

Act as a critical friend

The governing body promotes the interests of the school and its pupils. It offers support, constructive advice, a sounding board for ideas, a second opinion on proposals, and help where needed. It is critical in the sense of its responsibility for monitoring and evaluating the school's effectiveness, asking challenging questions, and pressing for improvement. A critical friend may also seek information, improve proposals, and seek to arrive at the best solution.

Ensure accountability

The governing body is responsible for ensuring good-quality education in the school. Governors have a right to discuss and question but always respect the professional roles and expertise of the headteacher and staff in their management of the school. The governors are in turn accountable and must be willing and able to explain their actions and the school's overall performance to stakeholders with a legitimate interest, such as the local authority, parents, and the wider community.

2 Governance structure

Election and removal of chair and vice-chair(s)

The term of office for the chair and vice-chair(s) will be one year.¹ Election of these roles will take place annually, usually during the autumn term. The clerk will manage the election procedures. Nominations (verbal or written) should be notified to the clerk prior to the meeting at which the election will take place. All nominations can be self-nomination or nominations from colleagues. Elections will be by secret ballot. All candidates must withdraw while the election process is undertaken and shall not vote. In the event of a tie the decision will be based on the toss of a coin.

Urgent action

The chair (or a vice-chair if the chair is absent) may take urgent action in circumstances where a delay may be seriously detrimental to the interest of:

- the school;
- any pupil at the school (or his/her parent);
- any person who works at the school.

Meetings and proceedings of the governing body

There will usually be five full governing body meetings a year. Meetings of the full governing body are convened by the clerk who will send out agenda/reports/papers to governors seven days before the meeting. Items for the agenda should be notified to the clerk ten days before the meeting. Any three members of the governing body may requisition a meeting by giving written notice, including a summary of the business, to the clerk.

A governor who, without the consent of the governing body, fails to attend full governing body meetings for a period of six months is disqualified.

Quorum

For all meetings of the governing body the quorum will be 50% of the number of governors listed on the Instrument of Government not including vacancies (rounded up). Associate members should not be included in the calculation for quorum.

Voting

All matters are decided by a majority vote. In the event of a tie, the chair (or acting chair) has an additional (casting) vote.

Minutes and papers

Minutes are prepared by the clerk. Draft minutes that have been approved by the chair will be given to governors as soon as possible. Signed minutes, excluding confidential items, will be available from the school office for public inspection.

Restrictions on participation

Governors must declare at the start of any meeting if there is a potential conflict of interest or a fair hearing is required and impartiality is in doubt. In such a case the governor must withdraw and cannot vote.

¹ Ideally, if there are two or more vice-chairs, these will not all be school parents.

Governors must complete a register detailing pecuniary interests or conflicts of interest and withdraw from the meeting if appropriate. A register of interests will be updated at each meeting.

In the event of a dispute the governing body decides whether the individual should withdraw.

Delegation to committees and individuals

A governing body can delegate any of its statutory functions to a committee, a governor or the headteacher, subject to the restrictions described below. A working party of the governing body can be set up, with the governing body deciding its membership and the topics it will discuss. A working party cannot make any decisions or have any delegated powers. A working party can bring recommendations to the full governing body (or a relevant committee only if responsibility has been delegated to a committee) for approval.

The governing body must review the delegation of functions annually. A governing body will remain accountable for any decisions taken, including those relating to a function delegated to a committee or individual.

The following functions cannot be delegated:

- the constitution of the governing body;
- the appointment or removal of the chair or vice-chair;
- the appointment of the clerk;
- the suspension of governors;
- the establishment of committees and delegation of functions.

The following functions can be delegated to a committee but cannot be delegated to an individual, even in urgent cases:

- the alteration, discontinuance or change of category of maintained schools;
- the approval of the first formal budget plan of the financial year;
- school discipline policies;
- the exclusion of pupils (except in an emergency when the chair has the power to exercise these functions);
- admission matters.

The governing body can still perform functions it has delegated. This enables it to take decisions on matters that are discussed at meetings on functions that have been delegated.

Please note that any individual or committee to whom a decision has been delegated must report to the governing body in respect of any action or decision made.

A chair shall be appointed annually to each committee either by the governing body or the committee.

For all meetings of the committees, the quorum will be stated in the Scheme of Delegation relating to that committee. Associate members should not be included in the calculation for quorum.

The governing body must agree the names of associate members of committees and whether they have been granted voting rights.

Associate members may not vote on the following issues: admissions, pupil discipline, appointment of governors, budget and financial commitments.

Seven days' notice must be given for all committee meetings and agendas circulated. Minutes of all committee meetings, excluding confidential items, must be circulated to all governors.

The governing body agrees the delegation of the functions, as described in the terms of reference for each committee, to that committee or its chair.

The chair or, if the chair is unable to exercise the function for some reason, the vice-chairs have the power to carry out certain functions of the governing body, if a 'delay' in exercising a function is likely to be seriously detrimental to the interest of the school, a pupil at the school or their parents, or a person who works for the school.

The following functions are excluded from this:

- matters related to a major alteration or permanent closure of the school;
- change of the school category;
- approval of the school budget;
- the school's discipline policies;
- the school's admissions process.

A delay means a 'delay for a period extending beyond the earliest date on which it would be practicable for a meeting of the governing body or of a committee to which the function in question has been delegated to be held'.

The expectation is that the headteacher and the Personnel Committee will be responsible for staff appointments outside of the leadership group. The headteacher will lead in determining all initial staff dismissal decisions, with advice from the chair of Personnel.

In exceptional circumstances, outlined below, the Personnel Committee, without the headteacher, will deal with staff appointments outside of the leadership group and the Staff Dismissal Committee will deal with initial staff dismissal decisions.

The exceptional circumstances are as follows:

- A headteacher who is unwilling to perform these functions and whose previous history of service at the school did not include any such responsibilities. This gives an existing headteacher the option of preserving their current working arrangements, but when the governing body considers a new appointment for the headteacher post the normal expectation for the headteacher to undertake these responsibilities should apply.
- Where the headteacher has been directly involved in disciplinary procedures leading to dismissal, has instigated a proposal to dismiss, or is witness of particular conduct giving grounds for the dismissal in question. The arrangements for delegating initial dismissal decisions will therefore need to be considered on a case-by-case basis in light of circumstances.
- A headteacher subject to suspension, disciplinary procedures (including capability), or disciplinary sanction.
- Where the local authority has made representations to the chair of the governing body on grounds of serious concerns about the performance of the headteacher.
- Where the headteacher has failed to abide by financial limits agreed by the governing body for any school purpose.

Appointment of the headteacher

The governing body will be responsible for selecting an appointments panel for the headteacher.

Freedom of Information Act

The governing body agrees to delegate to the headteacher day-to-day responsibility for the Freedom of Information Act 2000 and the provision of advice, guidance, publicity and interpretation of the school's policy.

Committees are responsible for the review of any policy documents relevant to their terms of reference, making recommendations for revisions, and approving any policies where the power to approve such policy can be delegated to that committee. The full governing body will approve only those policies as required by statute.

Confidentiality

Governors observe complete confidentiality when required or asked to do so by the governing body, especially regarding matters concerning individual staff or pupils.

As a matter of trust, governors will not discuss sensitive issues or the views of fellow governors with members of the public outside of meetings. Governors will exercise the greatest prudence if a discussion of a potentially contentious issue affecting the school arises outside the governing body.

In the interests of open governance and accountability, the governing body agrees to keep to an absolute minimum items redacted from the public version of the minutes of meetings of the full governing body.

Vacancies

The governing body is aware of the importance of maintaining a good balance of representation among its members and will have reference to this when putting forward names to any appointing bodies and when considering filling any vacancies by co-option.

Parent governors are elected in accordance with the procedure set out by the local authority. Disqualification criteria are sent to all parents.

Governor visits to the school

There is an expectation that governors will visit the school during school hours on a regular basis in order to experience the variety of activities that go on at the school. Such visits typically take the form of 'learning walks', but are not limited to this. It is important that any visit to the school is arranged in the correct manner to ensure that the visit is productive for the governor and staff are aware of the arrangements in order to assist in making the visit a valuable experience for all involved. Governor visit reports are submitted to the headteacher, as set out in the Governor Visit Policy.
